Dear Faithful Friends,

I can't wait to hear the heavenly choir—and hopefully to sing in it!

Just this past week, because of a heavy snowfall, my wife Anne and I went to a nearby church for the “choir Mass,” which we normally don’t do. We both usually prefer a mix of contemporary and traditional, with very active congregational participation, but this choir was special. The meditative pieces they sang at various times in the Mass were so beautiful, and the voices interwove so amazingly, that I thought I had gotten a glimpse of what the heavenly choir must be like, with all the angels and saints joining in with voices and music “way beyond” the greatest beauty on earth! Whoa!

I am a poor earthly singer—sometimes my wife and children even gently suggest that I sing more softly—but I am really looking forward to participating in the heavenly choir! I think they even let everybody sing, which is one of my real hopes.

That leads me to a verse of Scripture that I’ve known for a long time and puzzled over some. It’s that startling first chapter of Ephesians, which reveals the “big picture” of what God is up to.

“I am really looking forward to participating in the heavenly choir! I think they even let everybody sing...”

“In him, according to the purpose of him who accomplishes all things according to the counsel of his will, we who first hoped in Christ have been destined and appointed to live for the praise of his glory. In him you also, who have heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation, and have believed in him, were sealed with the promised Holy Spirit, who is the guarantee of our inheritance until we acquire possession of it, to the praise of his glory.” (Eph 1:11-14)

The particular phrase that I’ve pondered over from time to time is the phrase that says we have been “appointed to live for the praise of his glory.”

This makes me think of the times in grade school when the nuns—thank God for them—taught me that heaven was characterized by the “beatific vision.” I must admit I was a little disappointed to hear that, as it wasn’t immediately apparent how “looking at God all day” would be completely fulfilling. Couldn’t we do anything else?

Since then, of course, I’ve come to understand that the “beatific vision” is indeed, “the fulfillment of all desire,” and that everything that is good, lovely, true, tender, and consoling here on earth will be infinitely fulfilled in heaven. And so too with the “praise of His glory.”

What a mighty desire to praise His glory will arise in our whole beings when we see the wonders God has prepared for us! Maybe it’s a little bit like when we were children and came downstairs on Christmas Day and found that bicycle! Or those new flannel pajamas! Or that doll! Or that basketball! We felt overwhelmed, amazed, grateful, and perhaps would have said the equivalent of, “Wow!!!”

Or maybe it’s like when we first came around the bend of a pathway and saw an extraordinary view of mountains or lakes. Wow!

Or when someone has done a great act of kindness for us or helped us out when we were really in a jam. Gratitude—Wow!

To live for the "praise of His glory" will not be a chore, or boring, or ever get old—it is the eternal "wow" of the infinite goodness and beauty of God that never runs out, and it includes our communion with one another and our eternal marveling at the wisdom of His plan and the justice and mercy of all His ways and decisions.

And it begins here on earth, doesn't it? Even in the midst of our bodily frailty and the sufferings and disappointments of life, with all its imperfections, the hope that has been born in us—by our relationship with Jesus, the gift of the Spirit, and the cry welling up in our hearts, "Father, dear Father!"—engulfs us from time to time with a gratitude, joy, and praise that is a little foretaste of the overwhelming joy that will be ours, if we just persevere to the end.

We often say "wow" here at Renewal Ministries, as feelings of deep gratitude well up in our hearts when we read stories of how what we are doing—with your help—has impacted lives. For instance, when we open a contribution and see a widow living on Social Security giving from her meager store to help the mission. Or when we open an envelope and an unexpected check for thousands of dollars greets our eyes. The wow is equal in both cases, and the gratitude for both is great.

THANK YOU!

To the left are just a sampling of many messages we receive that leave us saying "Wow!" and giving thanks to God that, with your help, we are able to serve Him in this way.

Your brother in Christ,

Ralph Martin

The LIGHT SHINES IN THE DARKNESS

and the darkness has not overcome it - John 1:5

Join us for a weekend packed with powerful talks, workshops, prayer, and empowerment all centered on a theme of confidence and hope. People in today's world are concerned about instability, give in to discouragement, and are afraid of the dark—but Jesus Christ is the light of the world! Be not afraid! Our Lord has overcome the darkness. Our Lady—and 2017 is the one-hundredth anniversary of Fatima—is on mission. The Holy Spirit is on mission. Jesus Christ is on mission. He's given us a light so we can be just that—on mission. As Catholics, we need to firmly grasp that truth, and this year's Gathering is designed to help us do just that!

SEEKING LOST SHEEP

BISHOP BOYEA OUTLINES PLAN TO MOBILIZE THE "NINETY-NINE"

Peter Herbeck recently interviewed Bishop Earl Boyea, from the Diocese of Lansing, Michigan, on Fire on the Earth. The two discussed the diocese's Called by Name Assembly, which was the second of three assemblies the diocese is hosting over six years, in order to reach out to people in the pews, people who have left the Church, and people outside of the Church.

► Peter Herbeck (PH) There's a lot happening in the Lansing Diocese in the whole area of the New Evangelization. I want to talk about your vision for the diocese and the New Evangelization.

► Bishop Boyea (BB) When I arrived in the diocese in 2008, I was asked about my vision for the diocese. I think I stared with a blank look at everybody and said, "Well, I want to get everybody to heaven!" Of course, then it's, "OK, how do you do this?"

The diocese and staff encouraged me to do something, and so I formed a committee, which encouraged me to write a pastoral letter. About a week later, Pope Benedict urged every bishop to write a pastoral letter, and I said, "Oh my goodness, God is sending me a message."

I basically put together a lot of thoughts about how we can get people to heaven. The pastoral letter came out in 2012, Go and Announce the Gospel of the Lord, which really called for a Year of Prayer—prayer to the Holy Spirit to guide us into what we should do. It was a powerful year—it really was! All of our parishes prayed this prayer to the Holy Spirit, asked for the Holy Spirit to come upon us and to guide us to where God wanted to lead us. And then as a result of all of that, we came up with the inspiration to have three assemblies, one every two years:

2014 ► How Do We Build up the Household of Faith?

2016 ► How Do We Try to Bring Back Some of the Lost Sheep?

2018 ► How Do We Change the Culture? How Do We Affect the Culture, Which is so Toxic?

► PH I was able to be there for the first assembly, and it was dynamic. It was very well attended, and it had a dynamism, an energy, and a presence of the Lord. What was your experience?

► BB From the first moment, I felt the presence of the Holy Spirit. I thought, "This is incredible!"

There were about 850 people there representing all but one of our parishes, and they were all enthused. There was a snowstorm after the first day, and they all came back the next day! God wanted them there, and they knew God wanted them there.

► PH I thought, "The Lord is here—the Lord's helping us! There's something really happening in this room! It was like two plus two equaled ten, because the help of the Lord was there. He heard that prayer during the first year of just crying out to the Lord to help us. There was a clarity of message, and your team did a great job of pulling it all together.

What were highlights from that year for you?

► BB The big thing was the incredible amount of activities that emerged afterward in all of our parishes. I never mandated anything. I wanted them to maybe start prayer groups, start small faith-sharing groups, have Encounter sessions so people could meet Christ, those kinds of things, but there was never anything specific. I said, "Let a thousand flowers bloom"—and believe me, a thousand flowers have bloomed! I'm constantly astounded! The great thing is, everyone's doing something.

► PH I've witnessed the grace and the authority that the Lord gives a bishop. The Holy Spirit was doing all of it, I recognize that, but when a bishop says, "My heart's in it, I'm going to lead this: I'm going to help people open up. I'm going to let a thousand flowers bloom, and I'm going to beg the Lord to let a thousand flowers bloom"—something happens, and it's really wonderful to see. As a member of the Lansing Diocese, I want to thank you for that, because it has been a blessing for my life as well.

What were your main takeaways from that assembly?

► BB The presence of God. It was just so overwhelming. It just caused me to be so grateful, and I thanked God for that, because it was an answer to the prayer that I didn't know how was going to be answered. Craig Pohl was in charge of it, and I wondered, "How on earth is he going to pull this thing off?" But the Holy Spirit really plowed through, and got him going, and it was powerful!

► PH We all need to be led. We all need the Holy Spirit's help. And with the Holy Spirit present and leading us, all things are possible. The picture can be discouraging sometimes, to see where the Church is at in the West, but when the Holy Spirit comes, it just changes everything. Hope arises and creativity flows from that.

Let's talk more about phase two, the lost sheep.

► BB We do October counts to learn how many people are attending Mass every year. Over the past number of years, we've lost a lot of folks. I was discouraged when I saw that since the assembly, we've still lost folks. It really got me down. But then Craig said—"Bishop, the core is stronger than it's ever been!"

This second assembly is meant to help all of us reach out to friends and family members who have left the Church for whatever reason. Because I care for their souls; I want them to get to heaven. Not only that—we need them! It's not just they need us—we need them! They're called by name; we're called by name. We're all sons and daughters of the heavenly Father. The Father wants us together.

► PH What are you hoping to accomplish in the second assembly?

► BB I used the phrase in the pastoral letter, "Jesus went out after the one lost sheep." Which I think is kind of foolish—you should take care of those ninety-nine. But the danger is—is it one leaves, then one leaves, and then one leaves? Pretty soon, you won't have anybody left. So, you've got to always go after that one sheep. We all have to be as Jesus was in that story.

► PH We do have some bishops who listen to the program on occasion, and a lot of priests. Being sort of in the trenches as a bishop leading the charge, is there anything you'd like to say by way of encouragement?

► BB I couldn't have done this without very Spirit-filled people urging me, and there's no way it would have been accomplished without those very Spirit-filled and prayerful people following through and doing it. Just invite the Holy Spirit in to do these things and then step out of the way.

"JUST INVITE THE HOLY SPIRIT IN TO DO THESE THINGS, AND THEN STEP OUT OF THE WAY."

► PH That's a Godly way of leading. Call the Holy Spirit and then step out of the way. You've cast a vision, there was a call there, your team worked hard to till the soil, and it created a pathway for people to move together. And the reasons so many things are emerging are that Holy Spirit is leading us and that the leadership from you and your team is really helpful. You guys have communicated a sense of urgency to what you're doing.

Please say a little bit more about the third assembly, which will take place in two years.

► BB Our culture's pretty toxic and it's not very conducive to living a good Christian life. How can we affect the culture? We should be out there in the arts, entertainment, and politics. We should be out there changing the world, as happened after the time of Constantine, when culture was changed by Christians. We need to do the same thing in this day and age. ✚

VENTURING INTO THE DEEP

A prophetic word shared by Peter Thompson at the Renewal Ministries' 2016 Country Coordinators' meeting.

“Apostasy, apostasy, rebellion, hatred. These foul fruits rear their evil heads, demoralizing, entangling, suffocating My people. Nations that once were faithful, nations that once were a fount of saints have rejected truth. Rejected My name. Yes, My name—the only name that can save them from the wrath of my Father.

Even now I hold back His wrath. I cry out for mercy, mercy upon My people. Yes, even though they have turned away from My light, entangling themselves in the enemy's lies and deceits. A thick cobweb of vices, weeds, have grown up even in the midst of My Church.

But I say to you, I have sent you forth into ever deeper waters to bring hope to the nations. You have been amazed at the fruits of your labors under My power. You have seen My mighty hand working in ways that you have not expected. You, however, are in danger of taking for granted that your ministry in My name will always bear fruit. I have rejoiced with you in seeing many return to Me—in seeing those lost returning to Me.

But now, my sons and daughters, I desire to send you forth into ever-deeper waters, where the enemy even now lurks, thinking that the victory is won. That I am at last defeated. Where I desire to take you will hold many dangers, but know that I am with you.

Yes, some of you will experience hardship, injury, and apparent failure, for I desire that you listen carefully and allow my Spirit to lead you to places that you would rather not go.

I will send you into places where My light has all but been extinguished. You will be despised and hated, for the light I will shed through you will be as burning fire—excruciating to those who have embraced hatred and darkness. Do not be afraid. For it is I who go before you. It is I who send you forth. It is I who will speak truth through you.

I am Lord. Lord of all. So be meek and humble, malleable in My hands, so that I may work in and through you to restore nations now lost. ”

Spreading the GOSPEL in Ethiopia

During this trip, among other outreaches, Bishop Lesanu-Christos Matheos had us take the Gospel to remote areas of the diocese. We proclaimed the Gospel to unbaptized people just starting their journey to Christ. We felt like true missionaries! We've chosen that story, from the Gumuz tribe, to share below:

We made a several-hour trip to a remote town called Banush, in the heart of Gumuz territory. The Gumuz people are a very primitive and fierce tribe. They have a reputation of violence and murder. We were told the other denominations have not attempted to evangelize them out of fear. About twelve years ago, a group of Comboni nuns went to the Gumuz in another area of Ethiopia and began a medical outreach to them. The love and care these wonderful nuns gave the people led them to Jesus and His Church, and now that region has a good number of Gumuz who are Catholics, but none of the Gumuz near Banush had yet been baptized.

There is not a parish as of yet in Banush. The bishop told us that two young Gumuz men who had gone to school in Bahir Dar had encountered Jesus and been baptized. They then went to the bishop and asked him to send a priest to their village in the mountains. He told them to go first and said that when they had at least forty people interested in the Catholic faith, he would send them a priest. These young men (pictured below) were filled with zeal for the Gospel, and did just that. The bishop, true to his word, sent his only diocesan priest to them. (Fr. Teklemarian Amanual is also pictured below.) After only a few months of preaching the Gospel there, 280 men, women, and children received the Sacrament of Baptism, just a short time after our visit!

After the drive, Fr. Amanual left his vehicle at a small village, and we began hiking. We had no idea how far we had to go and expected to arrive there quickly. Boy, were we ever wrong! We walked for several miles up small mountains, down deep valleys, and across several streams—two of which we had to pass over by jumping rock to rock!

When the priest finally said we were close, he pointed at a neighboring mountain with a blue tarp stretched between poles, which was barely visible, and told us that was our destination. We all groaned inwardly. I kept reminding myself that St. Paul had it much worse. When we finally arrived, we were greeted by the whole village. It was quite a sight and made us so glad that we had come. The Gumuz are some of the last of the hunters and gatherers, and by their clothing we could see they were poor. Some of the children had the red hair of malnutrition.

During our time in Gumuz, their "church" consisted of a blue tarp stretched between poles.

I shared with them the basic salvation message and told them they had been chosen by God and that He has a plan for their lives—to bless and prosper them and give them a future filled with hope. I then led them into a prayer of commitment to Jesus. Father asked me to speak on baptism, and I told them that while they were already followers of Christ, baptism was their full incorporation into the family of God. I told them it is more than a symbol; it is a true transformation, as they become a brand-new creation. I told them they would then receive the Holy Spirit, and He would empower them with gifts of healing, preaching, and teaching so they could then go and evangelize others in their tribe.

Nancy then taught on the necessity of forgiveness, and we did the skit where she carries me on her back and God asks her to forgive me. When she does forgive, she starts dancing and asks them: Did I do that for him or for me? They all say, "For you!" The message got across! During quiet times, you could hear the coughing and wheezing of the children. They have no access to healthcare.

As it was getting late, we decided to leave so we could get back before dark. We were dreading the walk back, but somehow it seemed easier. I am sure it was God saying, "Good job." That night, we had the pleasure of ministering to thirty young Gumuz men who were attending school in Banush. The Catholic Church generously provides them with room and board at no charge. At the request of Fr. Amanual, I gave the basic salvation message, and Nancy taught on the call to holiness and the moral life. They had many questions, and it was such a pleasure to see their interest in what we taught and respect for the priest and one another. Before we left, we prayed with them for wisdom, understanding, and knowledge, and they were very happy.

Good things are happening in Ethiopia! ✚

A Letter from Bishop Lesanu

After the recent mission, Bishop Lesanu sent a letter to Renewal Ministries. Lloyd writes of the bishop; "He is a humble man and has a huge heart for bringing the Gospel to his people. It is an honor to work with him. He still has only one diocesan priest in an area that is approximately 900 by 750 kilometers!" Excerpts from the bishop's letter are below:

I am writing to give you a praise report on the effectiveness of your prayers. By the grace of the Holy Spirit we are not only seeing a zeal for the New Evangelization among our established Churches, we are also reaching areas and people with the Gospel that have never heard the Good News of God's love and mercy before. Alleluia!

On behalf of our priests, religious, and the Catholic faithful of our diocese, I would also like to thank you for the evangelization programs you facilitated here in several locations. In the town of Pawe, at Nativity Parish, we brought together over 150 of our youth from the main parish and thirteen outstations. They left empowered by the Holy Spirit and with a joy and hope that was beautiful to see. In the town of Banush, the Renewal Ministries team walked for several miles through difficult terrain to teach and minister to 280 members of the Gumuz People, who are the first in their tribe to accept Christianity. On November 28th, we will baptize all 280! Please receive our personal thanks and prayers. May God bless you richly for your love for us!

The team's teaching on the basic Gospel message, the Jubilee of Mercy, empowerment in the Holy Spirit, and the five Keys to Freedom have been a blessing from God. This year, you blessed us with two outreaches that have begun a great hunger for the Truth, and we humbly ask you to return twice next year and continue and expand your powerful teaching! We have few resources, and your help has been vital. Be assured of our prayers for you and your work for God.

Yours in Christ,

Abba Lesanu-Christos Matheos
Bishop of the Eparchy of Bahir Dar-Dessir

This follow-up report regarding the baptisms of the Gumuz tribe appeared online at vaticanradio.com:

“The testimony of one young believer and the diligent efforts of the pastoral agents of the Catholic Church have brought 300 more children of God home. However, there are still more of our brothers and sisters who have not yet received the Good News of the Lord, and with God's Grace we shall continue to shine the light of Our Lord and spread the Good News.”

“ The world is under attack by Satan, as our Lord said it would be (1 Pt 5:8). This battle is occurring within the Church herself and the devastation is all too evident. One of the key reasons is many Catholic men have not been willing to "step into the breach." A large number have left the faith and many who remain practice the faith timidly and are only minimally committed to passing on the faith to their children. As our fathers and sons and brothers and friends fall away, they fall deeper and deeper into sin, breaking their bonds with God and leaving them vulnerable to the fires of Hell. ”
